

October 15, 2025: On Being King for a Day

In case anyone is still wondering about whether or not it is 'good' to let Donald Trump pretend to be 'king' for a day:

Donald is incapable of making informed and reasonable decisions. His moment as the 'king' is exposing him as an arbitrary tyrant.

Everything is working perfectly and Donald is bewildered and lost beyond his ability to ever repair his own reputation.

This is the ongoing spiral of a doomed leader as he descends back down to his rightful place in hell.

